Hospitals do Strip de Gaza correm risco de fechar devido a falta de geradores

A few hospitals still functioning in the Strip of Gaza can become completely out of service if the necessary diesel generators to maintain lighting and medical equipment are not replaced or maintained soon, warned the Ministry of Health of Gaza on Saturday.

The ministry said it expects a number of hospitals to fail soon because Israel, as part of its siege of the region, is preventing the entry of spare parts necessary.

"This means certain death for the sick and wounded and the complete end of the health service", said the ministry in a communication.

One of the main generators of the Al-Aqsa Hospital in the central city of Gaza, Deir al Balah, recently failed, leaving the medical establishment with only one still functioning.

This hospital has been inundated with victims of Israeli air attacks to the extent that the central region of Gaza has been the target of sustained bombardments in recent days, killing dozens of civilians and wounding many others, according to the ministry and Palestinian media.

On Saturday, large numbers of wounded - including many children - were taken to the Al-Aqsa Hospital, which is operating with only one generator and also facing a severe shortage of medicines and equipment, said a spokesman for the ministry of health.

Gaza hospitals have been hit by Israeli attacks repeatedly since the start of the war, now in its ninth month, leaving many of them out of operation. The World Health Organization said this week that, since the attacks by Hamas on Israel on October 7, there were 464 Israeli attacks on the health system of Gaza, affecting 101 health installations.

Israel accuses Hamas of using hospitals in Gaza for military purposes, but has tried to prove the initial allegation that the militant group maintains a command and control center below the Al-Shifa hospital in Gaza City. Evidence provided by the Israeli army and examined by The New York Times suggests that Hamas used the hospital for cover, stored weapons inside it and maintained a tunnel below the complex supplied with water, electricity and air conditioning.

The Israeli army has not yet presented evidence similar to other health centers that were attacked.

Hamas and hospital administrators deny the Israeli accusations.

With Israel blocking most of the electricity supply to Gaza, hospitals have had to
